Delta, Connecting With the Oil Industry

Delta CleanTech attended the 2022 Saskatchewan Oil & Gas Show held in Weyburn, Saskatchewan from June 1st to 2nd, 2022. When they say it is the premier event of its type, they are not kidding!

The event attracted many oil and gas producers, service companies, equipment and instrument suppliers from all over western Canada.

Delta Process Engineering Manager, Dr. Walid ElMoudir, was joined by our Director of Strategy & Brands, Larry Gregga. They reported that there is clearly a new vibrancy in Saskatchewan surrounding fossil fuels. Companies are looking to increase production while implementing greener processes and recognizing this industry will be part of transitioning in our CO₂ reduced world. The stakeholders we met were very upbeat and look forward to partnering with Delta's on-going or future projects.

Dr. ElMoudir comments, "We were very happy to meet in person and see so many of our colleagues, vendors and suppliers who have supported Delta in previous projects and have shown their interest in future projects and engineering studies as well."

The event was also a great opportunity to meet both current and potential new clients looking for CCS/CCUS solutions for their facilities and operations.
